Mark O'Shaughnessy Rejoins Delphi Technology as Senior Vice President of Business Development

O'Shaughnessy's deep knowledge of medical and hospital professional liability markets, as well as his decades of experience in the broader P&C industry, makes him a perfect fit for Delphi

Boston, MA – September 5, 2017 - Delphi Technology, the recognized industry leader in technology solutions for the medical professional liability industry and an emerging provider of technology solutions for the property and casualty insurance industry, announced today that Mark O'Shaughnessy has rejoined the company as Senior Vice President of Business Development, reporting directly to Sam Fang, Delphi's President and CEO.

In his new position O'Shaughnessy will spearhead the company's Business Development group with the goal of expanding the company's market share in the medical and hospital professional liability markets, as well as introducing Delphi's newest solutions, Delphi Accelerator and Delphi Policy, to P&C carriers. Mark and his team will focus on new business development initiatives, including sales and marketing. As a key member of Delphi's leadership team from 1998 – 2005, Mark was responsible for Delphi customer success and professional services.

O'Shaughnessy's extensive insurance industry experience spans 27 years, starting with Liberty Mutual followed by gaining his brokerage experience with Willis and Aon. For the past two decades he has focused his career in insurance technology, including the last four years with Guidewire Software, working with insurers of all sizes and specialties to define and execute core system strategies.

Commenting on the O'Shaughnessy appointment, Sam Fang, Delphi Technology's President and CEO, said, "We welcome Mark back as a key member of our executive team. His broad and deep industry experience and track record of success helping insurers transform their businesses by effectively leveraging technology will serve both Delphi and our customers well. We look forward to his contribution and leadership as we continue to expand our footprint in our target markets."

In addition to his professional experience, O'Shaughnessy is a graduate of Boston University.
